The woman in the foreground is wearing a dark blue long-sleeved shirt and is smiling broadly. The woman behind her is wearing a green tank top and is also smiling. The water is blue and rippling. In the background, there are blue lane lines and a red lane line.

Ready to dive in with your fundraising?

Here's where you'll find everything you need to hit your Laps for Life goals this March and help prevent youth suicide.

You're now part of a life-saving swim squad

Thank you for signing up for Laps for Life, and for joining a community of swimmers – who are all committed to helping prevent youth suicide.

In this guide, you'll find plenty of tips and advice to help you make a splash with your fundraising. And have some fun along the way too.

Remember, every lap you swim this March, and every dollar you raise, will help ReachOut provide lifesaving support to young people facing mental health difficulties.

Let's get started...

Your laps will help save lives...

When young people need mental health support, they often turn to the internet. Your Laps for Life fundraising ensures they have 24/7 access to trusted resources, online forums, and PeerChat services from ReachOut.

The money you raise will help fund:

Digital content young people can trust

Ensure young people have reliable, trustworthy, expert advice when they need it most.

A caring online community

ReachOut's professionally moderated forum open 24/7, providing a safe space so young people experiencing mental health difficulties always have someone they can talk to.

PeerChat for young people

An innovative chat service where young people connect with an experienced peer support worker who has their own lived mental health experience and understands what they're going through.

Support for parents and carers

One-on-one support with a professional family and parenting coach to empower those helping young people through mental health challenges.

Every day, another young person in Australia is lost to suicide, and 1 in 3 are experiencing mental health difficulties.

Your support makes a difference. Your fundraising will help give young people the lifesaving support they urgently need.

$4.15

is enough to help give another young person access to ReachOut's online resources.

$89

could fund a professional moderator on the online mental health forum, and keep 21 young people safe.

$245

can give urgent mental health support to a young person in crisis.

$1,000

could change the lives of 240 young people, and make sure they have the support they need to feel better.

Content warning: Kiara's story mentions suicide. If this brings anything up for you head to the ReachOut website.

Every dollar you raise will help young people like Kiara

“ReachOut was there from me when literally no one else was. It saved my life.”

– Kiara

When Kiara was in her senior years of high school, she developed severe depression.

In her small country town, there was no psychologist. There were no mental health services. And whenever she looked on the internet for support, she felt overwhelmed. The information online was confusing, intimidating or felt ‘medical’ – and nothing like what she needed.

Kiara didn't know where to seek help or who she could speak to. And after a year of depression, she made plans to end her life.

That's when she found ReachOut.

“ReachOut saved my life. I was surrounded by support and knew ReachOut was always there the second I needed it. It made all the difference to me,” said Kiara.

The funds your raise for Laps for Life this year will help make sure ReachOut is there for the next young person like Kiara. And the next. And the next. Your laps truly will help save lives.

Keep the momentum going on social media

Whether you're on Facebook, Instagram or TikTok, social media is a powerful way to reach your supporters – and give your donations a boost. These swim-smart tips will help you make a big impact on your socials:

Share your progress

Post swims, training updates, and milestones to show how donations help prevent youth suicide.

Create a group chat with your team

Keep each other motivated and on track toward your goals.

Include your link

Add your fundraising link to every post—even selfies! Find it in your email or Laps dashboard.

Use #LapsforLife

We'll cheer you on from the sidelines!

Emails and text messages: your fundraising fundamentals

Sometimes, an email or text is the best way to ask for support. Here are a few tips:

Always include a link to your fundraising page

Make sure it's part of every email or text you send out.

Expand your reach

Connect with everyone from your workmates, friends, family to old swim buddies—anyone who might support.

Send a nudge

Don't hesitate to follow up if you don't get a response. A gentle nudge here and there can remind people to dip into their pockets and donate.

Make it personal

Let everyone know why you're swimming, and why supporting young people's mental health is important to you.

Here's some inspo to get you started:

Subject: I'm swimming to save lives

Hi there,

I'm passionate about supporting young people's mental health – and helping prevent youth suicide.

Which is why I'm taking part in Laps for Life with March. All month, I'll be swimming laps and raising funds for ReachOut, and I'd love your support.

You can make a donation to support my swims here: \(add your fundraising page link\).

If you want to know more about Laps for Life, or how your donation will help prevent youth suicide – just let me know. I'd love to tell you more about it!
